(c) an examination room which should be either separate room or a curtained off part of a consulting room;

(d) a treatment room in which such procedures as the giving of medications and the carrying out of minor surgical operations can be done;

(e) adequate toilet facilities.

(2) These rooms should be adequately furnished and cleaned and—

(a) there shall be sufficient sitting accommodation in the waiting room for the size of the practice;

(b) the consulting room shall have a desk and a chair for the doctor and two or three chairs for the patient(s); and a consulting room should also have a facility for the practitioner to wash his hands, for example, where there is no running water there shall be a washing basin with a jug of water which is periodically topped up;

(c) there shall be an examination couch in the consulting or examination room and another couch in the treatment room and the couches shall be designed so that it is easy for an infirm patient to get on to them, and there shall be adequate lighting, either daylight or artificial light, to enable the practitioner to see his patient fully.

2. EQUIPMENT:

The practitioner shall have the following equipment available at his place of work—

(a) diagnostic instruments such as stethoscope, syphgmanometer, foetal stethoscope, torch, patella hammer, auroscope, opthalmoscope, proctoscope, virginal speculum, disposable tongue depressors;

antidiarrhoeals, antihistamines, bronchodilators, antibiotics, muscle relaxants, etc.

(3) For the purpose of the doctor’s bag it should be the practice to carry disposable syringes and needles rather than steel and glass syringes which require sterilization. The bag will be adequately furnished if it carries a supply of 2ml disposable syringes and 25g (1 in) and 21g (1½in) disposable needles. It is also convenient to carry strips of spirit swabs rather than carrying a supply of surgical spirit and pieces of

FIFTH SCHEDULE  (r. 33)

1. MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR A CLINICAL RADIOLOGICAL LABORATORY

For the purpose of considering radiological protection facilities, the following should be adopted as a general guide—

Level 0 -  Clinics and health stations operated by a nurse or medical assistant without any direct medical supervision – no radiological facility required.

Level 1 -  Small clinics, health stations or general practices under supervision of a general practitioner who can undertake emergency work and refer patients to other levels – radiography only for chest, fractures (mainly extremities), and in exceptional cases plain abdomen necessary. No fluoroscopy should be undertaken.

Level 2 -  Sub-county hospitals, or rural hospitals staffed by a small number of doctors and undertaking general medical care and minor surgery, some private hospitals, clinics and non-profit making hospitals may be included in this group – radiographic examinations required include chest, simple abdomen, fractures and possibly some fluoroscopic examinations.

Level 3 -  Medium sized County hospital that undertakes routine hospital work such as general medical care and routine surgery including abdominal surgery. The medical staff should include specialists in main fields as defines in these Rules.

All general radiographic work is needed which would include some special examinations e.g. tomography, angiography, urography etc.

Level 4 & 5-National referral, County and private referral hospitals including teaching hospitals where all types of radiological procedures are required.

2. For a properly organized radiation protected programme to succeed, it is strongly recommended that—

(a) In hospitals at levels 3, 4 and 5, all x-ray diagnostic examinations should be carried out by the diagnostic radiology department;
(b) Even when an x-ray equipment is installed in other departments the head of the radiology department should have responsibility for radiological aspects of any examination performed;
(c) Level 1 refers to a rural or remote area where no other radiological service is available and the supervision is that of a general practitioner with limited skill in radiology. A fully qualified radiographer may not be available at this level and the x-ray equipment may be operated by a nurse or laboratory technician. Such a nurse or technician should have had additional training in radiography;
(d) In areas where a more comprehensive radiological service is available, no attempt should be made to provide a level 1 radiological service.

5. PREMISES:

(a) The x-ray room should provide adequate radiation protection for people outside the room, who may have no knowledge of radiation or radiation requirements;
(b) The basic x-ray room for general purposes should be about 6 x 4 x 3 metres in size, with wall thickness in all directions of 2mm. lead equivalent;
(c) The doors, the darkroom hatch, and covers for services and other instructions through the wall should have the same lead equivalent protection;
(e) Windows should be at least 2 metres from the ground outside the x-ray room and 1.6 metres from the floor level of the room;
(f) If the control panel is within the x-ray room, the protective shield should be positioned such that neither "once scattered" radiation nor direct radiation can pass round the edge of the shield from any part of the room where x-ray procedures are carried out;

(g) The darkroom should be at least 6sq. meters in area;
(h) There should be at least two protected changing cubicles of 1.5sq metres minimum size, preferably outside the x-ray room;

(j) However, if a prefabricated wood or metal building is being planned, it will need lead lining, preferably supported by plywood to prevent sagging (2mm. lead sheet is adequate);

(k) Converting an old building for an x-ray room will need a review by a radiation protection expert.

6. CHOICE OF X-RAY EQUIPMENT:

(a) The x-ray equipment should be adequate for its purposes e.g. at level 1 of radiological care, a good stationery x-ray tube and generator should be employed. Improvisation of a mobile machine in an old room used for other purposes should not be tolerated under any circumstances;

(b) For routine general radiography, necessary ancillary apparatus should be provided e.g. chest stand and a stationary couch with grid and film x-ray;

(c) To avoid mains voltage drops, the power supply to an x-ray unit should be separated from, say, that for lifts, etc;

(d) Where power supplies are particularly unreliable, battery operated or condenser discharge equipment should be used;

(e) An x-ray tube head of lower rating than that of generator should be installed;

(f) For exposure controls, meters giving clear indication of voltage, current and milliampere-seconds at all times are required;

(h) The timing device must be capable of making sufficiently short exposures (say down to 0.04 sec) must terminate a present exposure, and must be “dead man” type;

(i) All x-ray, fluoroscopic and dental equipment must further meet the protection standards as laid down by the International Commission on Radiation Protection;

(j) The normal output for radiographic units should lie from 60 KV and above with preferably not less than 50mA. For fluoroscopic units without image intensifiers, 75 KV and 2-3mA is the normal order. 3mA should not be exceeded at 100 KV.

7. SAFETY PROCEDURES: RADIOGRAPHY

(a) Staff positions should be behind protective shields preferably outside the x-ray room providing there is adequate view through a lead glass and communication device for speaking to the patient during exposure;

(b) During special techniques, where staff need be in the x-ray room, protective aprons and gloves should be worn;

(c) Films should be supported mechanically. Beam size should be reduced to cover by means of light beam diaphragms or variable cones only areas under investigation.

FLUOROSCOPY

(a) Only essential persons who must wear protective aprons, should be present in the room during fluoroscopy;

(b) The fluoroscopy switch should be spring loaded so that it is not left on unnecessarily or accidentally;

(c) A cumulative timing device that gives an audible warning and finally switches off after a few minutes to restrict the total switch-on time of the equipment;

(d) A properly darkened room;
(e) A fluoroscopy switch coupled with the rooms red light;

(f) If sufficient information can be obtained from radiography alone (e.g. as in chest examinations) then fluoroscopy should not be done;

(g) There should be effective coning devices;

(h) With conventional equipment, adequate dark adaptation of at least 15 minutes prior to screening is necessary.

ROOM LAYOUT

(a) Primary x-ray beam should not fall on the darkroom wall and should not routinely point towards doors or windows;

(b) Where there is more than one piece of equipment in the same room—

(i) only one generator per room should be installed;

(ii) a warning device should be mounted on each x-ray tube and control panel of the generator;

(iii) an adequate protective screen should be provided between each x-ray tube area;

(c) For special techniques such as tomography, angiography, etc a special room should be provided;

(d) Record room, office and waiting room should be provided outside the main x-ray room at all levels;

(e) Protective screens should be provided for all the positions in which staff are required to be during exposure in the x-ray room;

(f) Persons required to assist during fluoroscopic procedures should wear a protective apron of at least 0.25mm. lead equivalent;

(g) The physician performing the fluoroscopic procedures should wear a protective apron of at least 0.25mm lead equivalent;

(h) When a new x-ray facility goes into operation, all staff members who at any time may enter the department should be issued with radiation monitoring badges;

(i) Site monitoring during the radiation surveys should be done before commissioning the unit;

(j) Persons likely to receive three tenths (3/10) of the annual maximum permissible dose should be monitored regularly;

(k) Radiation personnel should be medically examined on initial appointment and at any time when the exposure levels as indicated by personnel monitoring are sufficiently high.
PROTECTION OF THE GENERAL PUBLIC

(a) Careful attention must be paid to the protection of all areas around, above and below x-ray rooms;

(b) Apart from adequate protective thickness of walls, floors, ceilings and doors, unprotected windows should not allow the public outside to be irradiated;

(c) Stray radiation should not reach the waiting rooms or other occupied areas;

(d) One patient must not use a curtained corner of an x-ray room to change clothing while another is being radiographed in the same room;

(e) Separate protected cubicles should be provided preferably outside x-ray room;

(f) Lead protected doors must always be closed during x-ray examinations;

(g) Particular care should be taken to avoid irradiating patients in adjacent beds during mobile radiography; and

(h) Protective clothing should be sworn by parents holding children undergoing x-ray examinations. They should not stand in the path of a primary beam.
